GENETICS LITERACY FOR PHYSICAL THERAPISTS HOD P06-01-28-27 [Position]

The American Physical Therapy Association supports the concept of genetics literacy and its importance and implications for patient/client management by physical therapists. This concept encompasses the emerging importance, benefits, and risks of genetic information and gene-based therapies, as well as the associated ethical, legal, psychological, and social implications.

Relationship to Vision 2020: Evidence Based Practice; (Academic/Clinical Education Affairs Department, ext 3203)

[Document updated: 12/14/2009]

Explanation of Reference Numbers:
BOD P00-00-00-00 stands for Board of Directors/month/year/page/vote in the Board of Directors Minutes; the "P" indicates that it is a position (see below). For example, BOD P11-97-06-18 means that this position can be found in the November 1997 Board of Directors minutes on Page 6 and that it was Vote 18.