The exhibits are intended for educational and informational purposes to improve physical therapy education, research, and practice. They should be used responsibly and with integrity, respecting the rights and dignity of all individuals. Any exhibit shall be properly supervised during its scheduled hours of operation and shall be opened to the public. The exhibit area shall be properly supervised by qualified personnel during all hours of operation. Exhibits shall be designed to promote education, research, and development in physical therapy and shall be free from all forms of discrimination. Exhibits must be in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and shall not violate any of the provisions of any state or local laws regarding prohibited discrimination.

Exhibitors are defined as any one of the following categories: Companies that own or operate a physical therapy practice or practice setting, such as a clinic, hospital, or rehabilitation center; individual therapists who supervise physical therapists in the practice of physical therapy; therapists who provide physical therapy services to the public; companies that manufacture or distribute physical therapy equipment; and any other entity that may be deemed appropriate by the APTA Exposition Services team. No exhibit shall violate any of the provisions of any state or local laws regarding prohibited discrimination.

Exhibitors are responsible for the content of their exhibits and must comply with all rules and regulations governing exhibits. Exhibitors are prohibited from using exhibits that promote or endorse discrimination, or that cause injury or harm to any person. Exhibitors are also prohibited from using exhibits that are considered objectionable by the APTA Exposition Services team.
