The American Physical Therapy Association, through its Honors and Awards Program, formally recognizes individuals, institutions, and APTA components (chapters, sections, and assemblies) whose contributions to the profession or to the association are outstanding, substantial and satisfy the approved criteria for the honor or award.

The association's honors and awards provide national attention and recognition for the contributions of the recipients, and they serve to enhance the reputation and public awareness of the entire profession. For individual members so recognized, association honors and awards represent the highest level of peer recognition.

I. Purposes of Honors and Awards

The purpose, eligibility requirements, criteria and procedures for each association honor or award shall be approved by the Board of Directors. The purpose of each association honor or award, including the specified nature of the contribution to be recognized, shall be stated clearly and shall not duplicate the purpose of any other association honor or award.

The purposes of association honors and awards shall be to:

- A. Recognize only the most outstanding contributions of individuals within particular categories representing the profession or the association as a whole, or representing specific areas in or related to practice, education, research, or to the literature in physical therapy.
- B. Serve as an incentive for the association's members and components (chapters, sections, and assemblies) in their achievement of outstanding and substantial contributions to the profession or to the association.
- C. Formally recognize outstanding and substantial contributions to the profession of institutions that are independent of the association.

II. Eligibility Requirements, Criteria, and Procedures for Honors and Awards

- A. The criteria for each association honor or award shall be clear, precise, measurable, related to the purpose of the honor or award, and useful in identifying the highest level of attainment of the contribution to be recognized.
- B. The procedures for each association honor and award shall be appropriate for the purpose, eligibility requirements, and criteria of the honor and award, except that the following procedures shall apply to all honors and awards:
 1. All association honors and awards requiring the submission and receipt of nominations or applications shall have a single, common due date for receipt, as well as a single, common, and identified program, unit, or individual within the association's headquarters to which or to whom to direct the nominations and applications.
 2. Nominations for an honor or award may be submitted by individual association members, chapters, sections, assemblies, or others.
 3. Nominations for each award and for the membership class Catherine Worthingham Fellow will be considered by Awards Committee subcommittees appointed by the Board of Directors.
 4. The members of each Awards Committee subcommittee will review its assigned award nominations and recommend potential recipient(s) to the Board of Directors for final approval. For all awards, the names of all individuals nominated for the honors and awards including those

- recommended by the Awards Committee subcommittees, will be presented to the Board of Directors for consideration and final approval.
5. The members of the Catherine Worthingham Fellows Subcommittee will review the nominations received for this membership category and submit all names nominated for the membership category, including those recommended by the subcommittee, to the Board of Directors for final election.
- C. The eligibility requirements for each association honor and award:
1. Shall require membership in APTA if the honor or award is made to individuals who should be expected to satisfy Membership Qualifications Prescribed by the Board of Directors for any membership category other than Honorary; and
 2. Shall exclude from eligibility, during their respective terms or periods of service as outlined below:
 - a. APTA employees (exception: an association employee shall not be excluded if the services that constitute the basis for the award nomination were performed at a time when the individual was not an APTA employee);
 - b. Members of the Awards Committee Subcommittees having review or recommendation functions with respect to the awards under their purview;
 - c. Members of the Catherine Worthingham Fellows Subcommittee with respect to nominations for the Catherine Worthingham Fellow membership category;
 - d. Members of the Board of Directors; and
 - e. Former APTA Board members who are within 12 months following their retirement from the Board.
 3. A posthumous award may be awarded at any time to a deceased member as long as they were a current member at the time of death. The Board of Directors may make an exception to this criterion if there are extenuating circumstances pertaining to current membership at the time of death.
 4. Those who are closely associated with a nominee in either a personal or professional manner where a conflict of interest may exist, are required to recuse themselves during discussion and voting concerning that nominee. In addition, the following groups shall not nominate, write letters of support, or endorse members or nominees for awards or for the membership categories Catherine Worthingham Fellow and Honorary Member:
 - a. Current members of each Awards Committee subcommittee with respect to the honor or award(s) under their respective purview.
 - b. Current APTA staff members.
 - c. Current members of the Board of Directors.
 5. The final election or selection of recipients for all association honors and awards shall be as set forth in V. APTA Honors and VI. APTA Awards.
 6. Due to the sensitive nature of the review and election or selection process for national honors and awards, members who serve on the Awards Committee subcommittees shall keep all deliberations confidential. The recommendations presented by the Awards Committee subcommittees to the APTA Board of Directors and the decisions of the Board pertaining to the election or selection of honorees or awardees will be final, and the reasons for those recommendations and decisions shall not be disclosed.
 7. The confidentiality of association honors and awards recipients, except for the Mary McMillan Lecture Award, shall be maintained until the recipients have received official notification from the APTA Board of Directors. The confidentiality of the Mary McMillan Lecture Award shall be maintained until the announcement is made at an official APTA national event.
 8. An association honor or award need not be given annually.
- D. The purposes and criteria of association honors and awards shall be reviewed and evaluated periodically to determine if the criteria are accomplishing the stated purposes and if they conform to this Policy on Honors and Awards.
1. All recommendations including discontinuation of an honor or award will be presented by the Awards Committee subcommittees and association staff to the APTA Board of Directors, or Physical Therapy Fund Board of Directors as appropriate, for final approval.

III. Guiding Principles for Honors and Awards

Association honors and awards given to individuals shall be subject to the following guiding principles:

- A. The granting of an association honor or award to an individual shall not preclude that individual from being considered for, or being given, any other association honor or award at the same time or at another time.
- B. No more honors or awards will be given than the number identified for each honor or award. An award recipient may receive no more than two awards in APTA's Honors and Awards Program in the same program cycle.
- C. Recipients will be recognized at an official APTA national event.
- D. Recipients of the Mary McMillan Lecture Award and John H.P. Maley Lectureship Award must present these lectures at an official APTA national event, and therefore selection is contingent on the recipient's ability to attend the national event at which the lecture is scheduled.
- E. Nominations for awards considered by the Awards Committee subcommittees and not selected for an award during the first year of submission are eligible to be resubmitted for the next year's Honors and Awards Program (i.e., one year after the original nomination submission), if the nominee continues to meet the eligibility and criteria for selection for the award. Staff will review nominations for continued eligibility. Resubmission of nominations for an award in subsequent years (i.e., after the second year of consideration) will require that the nominee continue to meet the eligibility and criteria for selection for the award, the consent of the nominator, and an update of the nomination package. (Exceptions are the Mary McMillan Scholarship Award, Minority Scholarship Award, Dorothy Briggs Memorial Scientific Inquiry Award, Chattanooga Research Award, and Jack Walker Award).
- F. Honors and awards presented at the annual Honors and Awards Ceremony shall be the newly selected Catherine Worthingham Fellows, recipients of the Mary McMillan Scholarship Award and Minority Scholarship Award, and recipients of the association's Honors and Awards Program. Whenever possible, individuals for whom APTA awards are named shall be invited to present the award at the Honors and Awards Ceremony. Reimbursement requests for travel costs incurred by presenters will be reviewed per compliance with APTA's established protocols.

IV. Funding

- A. For the honors and awards, funding shall be through the general funds and subsidiaries of the association.
- B. For a corporate-sponsored award originating from an organization external to the association, funding shall be borne fully by that organization.

V. APTA Honors

The following honors have been established by the Bylaws of the American Physical Therapy Association.

B. Lecture Awards

1. John H.P. Maley Lectureship Award

This award acknowledges and honors a physical therapist member of the American Physical Therapy Association who has made a significant contribution to the profession in the area of clinical practice.

a. Criteria for Selection

Nominees for this award must demonstrate:

- 1) A recognized and significant contribution to physical therapy in the area of clinical practice; and
- 2) Acknowledged skills in the organization and presentation of written or oral communications and the ability to present a worthy lecture.

b. Criteria for Eligibility

Nominees for this award must:

- 1) Be physical therapists who are current members of the American Physical Therapy Association; and
- 2) Have made a distinguished contribution to the profession of physical therapy in an area of clinical practice.

2. Mary McMillan Lecture Award

This award acknowledges and honors a member of the American Physical Therapy Association who has made a distinguished contribution to the profession and provides the recipient with an opportunity to share their achievements and ideas with members through a lecture presented at an APTA national event.

a. Criteria for Selection

Nominees for this award must have made distinguished contributions to the profession of physical therapy in the following areas:

- 1) Administration: the skilled process of planning, directing, organizing, and managing human, technical, environmental, and financial resources effectively and efficiently. Administration includes the management, by individual physical therapists, of resources for patient and client management and for organizational operations.
- 2) Education: the process of imparting information or skills and instructing by precept, example, and experience so that individuals acquire knowledge, master skills, or develop competence. In addition to instructing patients and clients as an element of intervention, physical therapists may engage in education activities such as the following: planning and conducting academic education programs for physical therapists, other providers, and students; planning and conducting education programs for local, state, and federal agencies; and planning and conducting programs for the public to increase awareness of issues in which physical therapists have expertise.
- 3) Patient Care (Patient and Client Management): providing services to patients and clients who are at risk for, or who have, impairments, functional limitations, disabilities, or changes in physical function and health status relating to injury, disease, or other causes. The physical therapist integrates the five elements of patient and client management – examination, evaluation, diagnosis, prognosis, and intervention – in a manner designed to optimize outcomes and promote health, wellness, and fitness.
- 4) Research (Critical Inquiry): the process of applying the principles of scientific methods to read and interpret professional literature; participate in, plan, and conduct research; evaluate outcomes data; and assess new concepts and technologies. Examples of critical inquiry activities include analyzing and applying research findings to physical therapy practice and education; disseminating the results of research; evaluating the efficacy and effectiveness of both new and established interventions and technologies; and participating in, planning, and conducting clinical, basic, or applied research.

b. Criteria for Eligibility

Nominees for this award must be:

- 1) Physical therapists who are current members of the association.

C. Practice/Service Awards

1. APTA Humanitarian Award

This award recognizes association members whose demonstrated leadership and outstanding humanitarian volunteerism have improved the quality of life of individuals throughout the world. This award specifically rewards individuals who embody and apply the compassionate nature of the physical therapy profession by actively expressing a commitment to humanity and exhibiting admirable degrees of selflessness in their efforts to address key health concerns.

a. Criteria for Selection

Nominees for this award must demonstrate:

- 1) Extraordinary humanitarian services and volunteerism;
- 2) Activities that exemplify the advancement of physical therapy; and
- 3) Sustainable activities that benefit humanity and demonstrate advocacy for promoting greater quality of life and expansive reach.

b. Criteria for Eligibility

Nominees for this award must be:

- 1) Current APTA members in good standing at the time of nomination and selection; and
- 2) Able to detail and record activity that spans a period of at least one year preceding the nomination for the award.

2. APTA Societal Impact Award

This award recognizes and rewards association members who demonstrate leadership, commitment and dedication to addressing issues related to societal welfare. This award specifically recognizes individuals who exemplify the compassionate nature of the physical therapy profession by exhibiting a distinguished commitment toward philanthropic initiatives, raising public awareness on key societal issues, and demonstrating how physical therapy can be applied to address these issues.

a. Criteria for Selection

Nominees for this award must demonstrate:

- 1) Activities to address and positively impact societal welfare;
- 2) Contributions through leadership, influence, service, or achievements and sustained efforts to improve the societal welfare over a period of at least one year preceding the nomination for the award; and
- 3) Philanthropic initiatives and advancement of physical therapy through activities of a high moral caliber and charitable nature.

b. Criteria for Eligibility

Nominees for this award must be:

- 1) Current APTA members in good standing at the time of nomination and selection; and
- 2) Able to detail and record activity that spans a period of at least one year preceding the nomination for the award.

3. Lucy Blair Service Award

This award acknowledges and honors physical therapist and physical therapist assistant members of the association whose contributions to the association at both the national and component levels, like those of Lucy Blair, have been of exceptional value.

a. Criteria for Selection

Nominees for this award must demonstrate:

- 1) Contributions and service in the realm of any area(s) of concern to the association as a whole or to the association's components, or elements relative to the national association; and
- 2) Contributions made through an individual's service on one or more elected or appointed groups, in one or more elected or appointed positions, and/or in one or more other capacities at the national and component levels of the association.

b. Criteria for Eligibility

Nominees for this award must be:

- 1) Current APTA members in good standing at the time of nomination and selection.

4. Henry O. and Florence P. Kendall Practice Award

- a. Criteria for Selection
Nominees for this award must demonstrate:

- 1) Contributions to the former Affiliate or National Assemblies, PTA Advisory Panel, the Representative Body of the National Assembly, PTA Caucus, and the American Physical Therapy Association, at the national, component, and/or district levels;
 - 2) Service to the community through activities that enhance quality of life and function;
 - 3) Representation and promotion of the role of the physical therapist assistant through education, practice, and/or research as a part of the PT-PTA team;
 - 4) Promotion of ethical standards and professional conduct among peers, students, and patients and clients;
 - 5) Pursuit of career development through continuing education (courses, workshops, in-services, etc.); and
 - 6) Service as a role model and inspiration to patients and clients, peers, and students to perform at, or strive to achieve, their optimal potential.
- b. Criteria for Eligibility
- Nominees for this award must have:
- 1) Been engaged in providing clinical services for at least five years under the direction and supervision of a physical therapist;
 - 2) Been licensed or regulated if required by the jurisdiction where the individual is working; and
 - 3) Experience working in more than one practice or educational setting.
- D. Publications Awards
1. Dorothy Briggs Memorial Scientific Inquiry Award
This award recognizes a physical therapist member of APTA for an outstanding article in Physical Therapy prepared while they were a student.
 - a. Criteria for Selection
The following criteria will be used to evaluate all nominated articles:
 - 1) The article is written clearly and concisely;
 - 2) There is a clear theoretical basis for the paper;
 - 3) The review of literature and other introductory statements provide evidence for the importance of the paper to physical therapy;
 - 4) Elements in the paper are described with sufficient clarity to permit replication by others; and
 - 5) The paper represents a useful contribution to the knowledge base of physical therapy.
 - b. Criteria for Eligibility
 - 1) Authors of eligible manuscripts must have been APTA members at the time of the manuscript's publication and at the time of nomination. Authors need not have been APTA members at the time of data collection and manuscript preparation;
 - 2) All articles authored and published in Physical Therapy during the current year are eligible, except Literature Reviews, Professional Perspectives, and Clinical Perspectives, provided that the studies were undertaken when the principal author was a student in an educational institution and that the articles to be judged are part of the requirements of the educational program in which the student is enrolled. If the paper has more than one student author, each will be considered a co-winner of the award, if otherwise eligible. If more than one article has been written for a study and these articles were published in the same year, then the primary author can designate that the articles be judged as one article for the purpose of this award. If the additional articles have different principal authors then these articles may be considered as separate candidates for the award; and
 - 3) Any manuscript meeting the criteria will be considered if the primary author is eligible for the award, even when co-authors are not members of the association.
 2. Chattanooga Research Award
This award encourages the publication of outstanding physical therapy research articles, including both basic and clinical research.
 - a. Criteria for Selection
Nominated articles must:
 - 1) Demonstrate a significant contribution to physical therapy;

- 2) Present a novel and innovative research study or theoretical model that addresses an important area of physical therapy;
 - 3) Have a clearly stated purpose with supportive rationale and appropriate methodology;
 - 4) Clearly present the results and/or theoretical framework with appropriate discussion of application and impact on clinical practice or future physical therapy research; and
 - 5) Be well organized, and clearly and concisely written.
- b. Criteria for Eligibility
- 1) The first author of eligible papers must have been an APTA member at the time of the manuscript's publication and at the time of nomination. The first author need not have been an APTA member at the time of data collection and manuscript preparation;
 - 2) For papers with multiple authors, each author who is eligible for the award will be considered a co-winner of the award;
 - 3) All reports of scientific studies authored and published in Physical Therapy during the current year are eligible, provided that the studies were not undertaken for obligatory academic requirements when the authors were students;
 - 4) Candidates for this award will designate that their articles be considered for the Chattanooga Research Award rather than the Jack Walker Award. Candidates can be eligible for only one award for a given article; and
 - 5) Case studies and case reports do not meet the purpose and intent of the award.
3. Jules M. Rothstein Golden Pen Award for Scientific Writing
- This award recognizes a member who has demonstrated superior writing skills in one or more articles published in Physical Therapy, and who has collaborated with or encouraged others to make similar contributions to Physical Therapy.
- a. Criteria of Selection
- Nominees for this award must:
- 1) Be a physical therapist who has made a significant contribution to health care by writing in the areas of theory, practice, basic or clinical research, education or administration;
 - 2) Have published in at least two different health care professional journals or contributed to at least two books, monographs, or proceedings from scientific meetings;
 - 3) Reflect in their scientific writing expertise of subject matter, innovation of ideas, and clarity of expression; and
 - 4) Provide electronic examples of the nominee's published writings. These examples should be from health profession publications, both within and outside the discipline of physical therapy. Publications can include scientific journals, books, monographs, or proceedings from scientific meetings, podcasts, webinars, online courses, and other publications.
- b. Criteria for Eligibility
- Nominees for this award must have:
- 1) Demonstrated superior writing skill in one or more articles published in Physical Therapy. The writing excellence may be reflected in one particularly unique, classical contribution or in a series of articles designed to develop further knowledge within a content area or conceptualization; and
 - 2) Collaborated with or encouraged others to make similar contributions or contributed outstanding leadership and effort in initiating activities to improve Physical Therapy.
4. Helen J. Hislop Award for Outstanding Contributions to Professional Literature
- This award acknowledges an individual physical therapist who has made significant contributions to the literature in physical therapy or in other health care disciplines in the areas of theory, practice, basic or clinical research, education, and administration as exemplified by the professional career of Helen J. Hislop.
- a. Criteria for Selection
- Nominees for this award must:
